
If the Clarion fills up...or so the hotel staff says...

Posted by Jillybeans - 2006/06/30 20:43

Try going onto travelocity.com and thus far, that weekend, rooms can go for 98 dollars a night. Last year i had a HORRIBLE experience with the management of that hotel, and I don't want anymore con-goers to get screwed out the rear (in a BAD way). If you are staying at the Clarion, MAKE double-y sure you get the convention rate. They WILL rip you off the first chance they get.

EDIT: They have since updated and it is going for 150 a night. But I bet if you bet on hotwire.com you can get a cheaper rate. Again...not trying to cheat the other hotels...just the Clarion. Trust me...They are a bad company...and I really hope that Yaoi-con goes to a different hotel in the coming years. They care nothing for the con-goers, or even customer service...they just want to make money.

=====