
Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kitahara_Horyu - 2007/04/13 23:42

Greetings.

New to this forum...yet familiar with this genre of entertainment. I only found out recently that there was a specific name for such material.

I happen to reside in NY(Long Island specifically)and was hoping to bump into fellow Yaoi fans. Male and female.

I would love to be a part of this event...yet responsibilities keep me tied here. For now...meeting someone who would enjoy Yaoi and all the lovely aspects of it...happens to be my main reason for joining a Yaoi based forum.

Best wishes,
Horyu :)

=====

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by J_Chen - 2007/04/14 21:36

Hello Horyu!

Welcome to the forums, I am pretty new too. I am from PA, 2hr bus ride to NY. Nice to meet ya!

JC

=====

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kitahara_Horyu - 2007/04/14 21:49

Hello Horyu!

Welcome to the forums, I am pretty new too. I am from PA, 2hr bus ride to NY. Nice to meet ya!

JC

Hi there!

I seem to bump into so many people from PA. Not only from dating...but just in general. It's funny...because Long Island is pretty small...yet over-populated...but everyone seems to be dropping me lines from PA.

:)

Pleasure to meet you J-Chen.

Sasuke pic as your avatar? Neat.

I have so much Naruto and Sasuke Yaoi images that I need to at least arrange them so I can figure out just how much Yaoi stuff I have.

Giggles

You should try taking the train to NY. If the bus ride is 2 hours..imagine the train ride.

:wink:

=====

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by J_Chen - 2007/04/15 12:16

Hello Horyu!

You should try taking the train to NY. If the bus ride is 2 hours..imagine the train ride.

:wink:

I tried that once...and belived me i would never do it again! XD

=====

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kitahara_Horyu - 2007/04/15 16:15

Hello Horyu!

You should try taking the train to NY. If the bus ride is 2 hours..imagine the train ride.

:wink:

I tried that once...and belived me i would never do it again! XD

You found using mass transit awful I guess?

I'm not sure where in PA you are...but I know from Lancaster City...it's a pretty easy ride. Maybe it is a bit more complex for you, depending on the area you are located.

I've used all forms of mass transit(only when visiting the City)....but I've been to PA many...many times(wish I hadn't)by driving. I enjoy traveling...but the trips were lovely...not just the individuals I spent hours traveling for.

Well...if bus rides are easier for you...that is all that matters.

Keep in touch. It would be nice.

Best wishes,
Horyu

=====

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kish - 2007/05/02 10:01

I'm also from Long Island, and have been a yaoi fan for quite a while. What area do you live in?

=====

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kitahara_Horyu - 2007/05/02 10:30

Even at my age...I don't give away exact information.

For now. I live on the South Shore of Long Island. I look forward to LI sinking.

Heh....

I'm somewhere in the middle. That's all for now.

:)

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kish - 2007/05/02 15:08

By 'what area' I really only meant 'Nassau or Suffolk' ...the few other yaoi fans I've come across on L. I. were from Suffolk.

Well, I'm in Nassau, also South Shore. Nice to meet you :)

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kitahara_Horyu - 2007/05/19 19:43

I am terribly sorry for the late response.

I am in Suffolk County. South Shore. I am in Islip Township. The Ferries to Fire Island are only 5 minutes away from me.

I live by the water.

Nice to meet you too...and I told you Akira...you ended up taking the train to see me. Heh...

Next time...you'll Amtrak yourself from Phili here. No way are you doing that bus crap again!

Hugs

~See. Told you I would come back here eventually~

:wink:

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by ViiRYiiS - 2007/05/21 20:20

...Fire Island!

I would definitely want to go visit there, for obvious reasons ^.^

I posted info about me somewhere else on another NY page in this "Fan Finder" index, but regardless, I used to live in LI (Nassau, Five Towns), but now live in Brooklyn.

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kitahara_Horyu - 2007/05/22 00:36

Oh. So...'Fire Island' is your scene for "obvious reasons"?

Considering I love the Ocean and water in general(I've spent the vast majority of my life immersed in it)...I've grown increasingly enraged with the pollution process...even here on Long Island.

Fire Island is for tourists. Other than that...I never visit. The cost is ridiculous...and since I live by the water...I guess it's just an everyday thing for me.

Memorial Day weekend is coming up...and this place is going to be noisy and congested. Ugh!

Brooklyn. I've driven past that to get to the Verrazano when visiting anyone outside of the Island.

=====

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kish - 2007/05/22 10:06

Nice to hear from you again Horyu

This may be a dumb question, but did you take your screen name on here from the character in the Our Everlasting manga? (Loved that manga - loved that character too) If you did, it seems like it's fitting considering you and the character share a love of the ocean, based on your previous post to ViiRYiiS.

I've never been to Fire Island, or the Hamptons either for that matter (except for one time by accident - was on the way to go fishing out east and took a wrong turn - got stuck in traffic on the main drag in Southampton in my friend's beat up 1972 Chevy Nova while blasting Guns N' Roses - that was an interesting experience). I don't really do the whole trendy social scene on Long Island, to be honest. But I like the beach (I now live not too far from Long Beach myself) and you're right, the pollution situation is getting ridiculous.

Hi there to you ViiRYiiS - I'm familiar with the 5 towns area - nice to see more Long Island yaoi fans

=====

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kitahara_Horyu - 2007/05/22 13:49

Hi Kish.

Nice observation. Yes...Horyu from 'Our Everlasting'. Happens to be my favorite Manga. I tend to be drawn into romantic style storylines, than anything that deals with selling or treating others like slaves. Not my style. Plus...'Neko' stuff does nothing for me.

I also use Tokunaga Shouin as my Myspace name. I happen to be very much like the two of them...but my partner happens to use this name on his Myspace profile. He continues to call me Shouin every time we are together and talk on the phone.

Ive spent the majority of my life here on the Island. One of the things I regret doing for so long. Everytime I have traveled outside of long Island...I've longed to remain at my vacation spot. My future plans are to live in Estes Park...heading up to the Rocky Mountains of Colorado.

I was once asked if I could give up the sea and live up in the Mountains instead. My response was simple.

Yes. I truly have no fears and after standing at a cliff point nearly 7,000 above sea level, in -20 temperatures with snow falling around me...I never wanted to return to Long Island again.

Living here...one needs to be socially acceptable...wealthy beyond means and a happy go lucky tourist. I do not fit in any of the three...so I tend to remain here in my home..wondering if LI will ever be the once affordable Island I knew as a child.

So far...that's wishful thinking. I'll be out of here soon. The Mountains are lovelier anyways. The pollution level is nearly non-existent...and it's Winter 8 months out of the year...and at times...2-3 months out of the year...one is snowbound.

Yay! Snowboarding for 8 months...and then...I can skateboard when it melts.

You definitely are an interesting individual Kish. Keep in touch.

=====

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kish - 2007/05/22 18:34

Knew that name sounded familiar when I first saw it :) I'ts one of my favorite mangas as well...wish there was more of it. I've read some of Toko Kawai's other work and liked it, but there was just something about Shouin and Horyu's relationship that really struck a chord with me.

I tend to gravitate towards the more romantic manga stories as well, and I agree, Neko stuff does nothing for me. Another manga artist in a similar vein is Hinako Takanaga - she tends to do a bit more humorous BL, like her Challengers series, but also does romance like her Little Butterfly series. I've been very happy to see so much published English yaoi/BL on the market recently, since I'm kind of crap when it comes to technology and don't have the time/energy/skills to figure out how to download scanlations on ICQ, lol. If you have any suggestions of series to check out, I would love to hear it. I'm always looking for new stuff to read (reading is my biggest addiction).

I've lived on Long Island my whole life, but I'm fairly well traveled, at least on the East Coast (Yaoi-Con will be my first trip West). There are some things I like about living here, and the majority of my family is here, but the cost of living is insane. And yeah, there is an overabundance of superficiality in the people here, as I know very well because I grew up in a town full of them. There was a time in my life when I couldn't wait to get out of here, but I came to the conclusion that when I do leave, it's going to be because I'm moving towards something better and not running away from something, if you can understand that.

The mountains sound beautiful - I hope you get to go there soon.

=====

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kitahara_Horyu - 2007/05/22 19:42

Hello Kish.

Yes. I love 'Our Everlasting'. I just recently put in an order for 'Little Butterfly' Volumes 1 & 2. I look forward to reading both next week when I pick them up from Borders Bookstore.

I have always been a hopeless romantic. I find romance and something more realistically romantic to please me...mentally and visually.

The entire 'Neko' image confuses me. Being an Animal rights activist/advocate(for over two decades)that whole 'Neko' image bothers me. I find it utterly confusing and somewhat ridiculous. Whatever causes one to latch onto that image...that is fine. For me...it only leads to redundancy.

I too have lived here my entire life. I only spent 8 months living in Texas(never again)...but my pleasures have been in the Great Plains. I have visited Colorado and took a drive to Laramie Wyoming. I believe that was the town. I have a hoodie from that small town. From Fort. Collins CO...Wyoming is only a 45 to an hour drive. Across the plains...it is amazing! I have most of it on my Sony DVD cam. I also film wildlife...and heading up the mountains of Estes Park...during the winter chill...and snow...the mountain goat come down to feed.

I also have a few minutes of a mountain lion off my fathers friends property. My DVD cam has a night vision switch...so I was able to get a wonderful view of the lion on my fathers friends property. Eventually...the local officials had to cast the lion off the property. Small animals and pets need to remain inside during a ML case.

The Mountains are lovely. Outside of the water...the Mountains are my haven...and my own version of heaven. There is literally no other place I would rather be.

I, at some point...will be selling my home. My Father wishes to invest in Toronto....so I shall be joining him once the investment pulls through. My mother passed away over three years ago...and after being her caretaker for 3 1/2 years...with her death...I have been able to live.

I am sure you'll enjoy this event. I will continue to enjoy Yaoi...but for now...it is a personal enjoyment of mine...and already...I know that I would not fit in due to my personal points of view.

Keep in touch Kish. It would be nice.

=====

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kitahara_Horyu - 2007/05/26 14:46

Knew that name sounded familiar when I first saw it :) I'ts one of my favorite mangas as well...wish there was more of it. I've read some of Toko Kawai's other work and liked it, but there was just something about Shouin and Horyu's relationship that really struck a chord with me.

I tend to gravitate towards the more romantic manga stories as well, and I agree, Neko stuff does nothing for me. Another manga artist in a similar vein is Hinako Takanaga - she tends to do a bit more humorous BL, like her Challengers series, but also does romance like her Little Butterfly series. I've been very happy to see so much published English yaoi/BL on the market recently, since I'm kind of crap when it comes to technology and don't have the time/energy/skills to figure out how to download scanlations on ICQ, lol. If you have any suggestions of series to check out, I would love to hear it. I'm always looking for new stuff to read (reading is my biggest addiction).

I've lived on Long Island my whole life, but I'm fairly well traveled, at least on the East Coast (Yaoi-Con will be my first trip West). There are some things I like about living here, and the majority of my family is here, but the cost of living is insane. And yeah, there is an overabundance of superficiality in the people here, as I know very well because I grew up in a town full of them. There was a time in my life when I couldn't wait to get out of here, but I came to the conclusion that when I do leave, it's going to be because I'm moving towards something better and not running away from something, if you can understand that.

The mountains sound beautiful - I hope you get to go there soon.

Hey...thought I would let you know that after meeting my friend Akira off of this site and soon getting to spend some time with you...at least I benefited by coming across two really neat individuals.

I'll talk to you later Kish. Funny how I came across as so "defensive" and now...we chat and talk for hours.

winks

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by ViiRYiis - 2007/07/05 23:31

awww--that's awesome. I wish I had time to do that, meeting people off the board and enjoying new company.

I'm debating how or when I'll actually get to planning to attend this year's yaoi-con...

if i do, i DEFINITELY will apply (and become!) a bishie. what will i do? sing. =p or molest another bishie. or do both at the same time.

oh, and... am i the only gay here? @.@ ahah ^_^

Re: Long Island. NYC. NYS. CT. NJ. The surrounding NY Bouroughs.

Posted by Kitahara_Horyu - 2007/07/06 12:46

awww--that's awesome. I wish I had time to do that, meeting people off the board and enjoying new company.

I'm debating how or when I'll actually get to planning to attend this year's yaoi-con...

if i do, i DEFINITELY will apply (and become!) a bishie. what will i do? sing. =p or molest another bishie. or do both at the same time.

oh, and... am i the only gay here? @.@ ahah ^_^

Nope. You are not the only "gay" here. I'll keep my business to myself in regards to who is "gay" and what really falls under that category.

Believe me...there are several places where you can meet many that are interested in this genre of entertainment.

:)

=====