

---

The Anime Place

Posted by rev.tylerg - 2007/07/12 21:35

---

Greetings,

I figured I'd take a moment to pimp this.

I am working to create an online community of Anime fans. I'm looking for it to be some what of a safe haven. Welcoming all that enjoy anime, whether it be of the yaoi, yuri, or any other flavor.

The community will have 3D places, the opportunity for members to hold jobs.

Yes I can here you all saying it "Oh My It's another {place virtual community name here}"

I assure you I intend for it to be much more then that.

The community will be running off the magic of Blaxxun Technologies which I have had a license so graciously provided by the same.

If your interested in seeing the start of it you can see it here:

<http://theanimeplace.org>

Feel free to enter as a visitor or register as a member. Be advised that this is still very much in beta, so it's not aesthetically pleasing, and plenty of things don't work quite right yet.

Any suggestions for this would be greatly appreciated. And if there is anybody here that is knowledgeable of the platform or is willing to learn and wish to volunteer let me know.

I am also looking for World Builders and Avatar designers and people that are knowledgeable of the platform or is willing to learn. So if you have any VRML experience or would be willing to learn and would like to volunteer please drop me a line.

=====