Hee hee hee, better late than never, eh? Well, I'm here in SLC, but I don't know that you really needed to know that. Actually, I was surprised to see another Utahn (or soon to be) around the Yaoi-Con site. Surprised and oh-so-overjoyed! I wonder how many more of us there are around here...

I know of another yaoi fan ~~ But she's really young, only twelve...so i DOUBT we'll be see HER any time soon....other than that, I only know two other people who live in utah right now (Not yaoi fans) and they work for me...I wish there were more Yaoi fans in Utah, I'm almost afraid to go back cause i'm flamboyantly gay and i have a feeling most people over there will be...you know...homophobic... (Dad got stationed there while I was in the military)

Too bad about your one friend who is too young to join the con. That really sucks. I completely understand your hesitation to move to Utah, but I can assure that not all Utahns are homophobic. Some of us actually prefer the company of gays to that of the mo-mos. People like me! :D Then there are the people like my family who, when you say, "I have to find all my gay friends in books these days" look at you like you just sprouted a second head, even though they know/love your best friend who is gay and like a second son to them. Oh, well. What can you do? I look forward to hearing from more yaoi fans in Utah...if any more exist. And I wish you the best of luck in your future move ^_^

I'm not going to yell...I'm NOT going to yell~~ Hell with that! I'M NOT A DUDE! GAH! Why does EVERYONE think I'm a friggin guy!? I used to have car fulles of teenage girls drive by whistling and hooting , shouting things like "NICE ASS HUNK!" And when they see my face they're like OH SHIT IT'S A GIRL! So SUE me! I like to keep in shape ~~ I'm NOT a guy! ~Dies in a see of her own tears~ And I'm not even a Dyke! (I just like cutting all my hair off from time to time)

Um...okay. I apologize if I offended you (was it me?). I must admit that I was under the impression you were a "flamboyantly gay" male. So sorry about that. It is an easy mistake over the Internet and all. Anyway, I still look forward to hearing more from you and anyone else out there... Hello?!? taps computer screen Anybody out there?

chuckles well, the last post was in June last year, but I thought I'd say hi and I'm from Utah anyway. heh.

YAYYYYYY ~Sobs~ I thought I was all alone in a desert of un yaoiness...having to trudge ALLL the way to SLC to even get a HINT of yaoi on the air...and not even the really good really graphic kind~~ ~CLINGS~ How do you LIVE in this state! ~~ I'm in Layton and it just makes me SO homesick for CA when there's not even a decent Japanese market within walking distance!

Re: Utah

Well, somehow I've survived... Actually I like Utah because I can actually find my way around! haha. But yeah, lack of yaoi goodness is definitely a sad thing. I found out recently that my cousin likes yaoi, but she's not really... into... it. It's more of a "oh if the story is good I'll read it and if the anime is good I'll watch it but I could live without it" attitude. snickers if you ask me, I think she's in denial. But yeah... other than that I don't know of anyone else (well besides you and LadyJane) that like yaoi; serious drawback to living in the sheltered capital of the world. heh.

Layton, huh? Well, I'm in Lehi, but I drive up to SLC for school and work. Frankly, I regret buying down here. There's like... NOTHING in Lehi!! haha, though I can't imagine Layton is much better.

All the way down to SLC? ~~ I don't have a car but I know the bus system and can get to SLC if I have to~~. I'm going to Weber state mself, you must be at the UofU. We should all get together in May or something (I am taking summer corses but I only have one in may so I will probably have enough free time to go out.) I think it would be really fun to get together and just...you know...be ourselves. I'm an art major, maybe I can even show you slides of some of my work! I've actually subbitted a very mild yaoi peice for the student show this year! Very mild as in...I drew two naked male figure dolls together in a sugestive position in a bowl.... I hope it gets in...^^ I realy do. I think its hilarious myself...you know....two gay men in a bowl...fruits in a bowl...a traditional still life done by millions of artists everywhere. anywho...I prattle on...~~ have a good rest of the week.

^__^; actually I'm at Salt Lake Community College. chuckles I'm trying to squeeze my two year degree into four years... (this is a joke. you're required to laugh heh ^_~) But yeah, I'll be finishing up my 8th semester there (in a row I might add dies), but I'll probably graduate next spring. Don't let that fool you though. Except for summers I totally pack my schedule (have 18 credits this semester), just not with classes I need... (I prattle on too heh, sorry)

That's funny about the two gay guys in a bowl. hehe. I hope it gets in the student show ^__^

Yeah it would totally be cool to get together in May. New friends are cool; new friends that like yoi are even cooler (eh... not that old friends aren't cool too... heh). points at email and YIM buttons feel free to contact me that way if you want.

<< I've probably got at least another three years to live in this hell hole << maybe more unless my school decides to make Japanese a Major, then I'll graduate sooner because I'll be dumping all the bull shit art classes I don't care for.

Yes. Being able to dump classes you don't like would be good.

Well....I asked if there were any Utah Fans out there LAST year, how about THIS year? I actually found a GREAT Yaoi fan after last con, she lives in Ogdon and we're going to con together this year ^^ I just want to know if there are any other fans out there (we had an unofficial Y club at Weber State with me as the president but it was really only me and my friend that liked yaoi there so....it fell apart after a few months) I would like to find more Utah fans, then maybe we could have meetings (monthly, weekly etc depending on how close you all are to us) laughs Out of the few yaoi fans you'll find in Utah, most of them are either underage or 'in the closet' so to speak. Though still, good luck to you. I have to admit you're persistent. Such a shame you live in Ogden... I hope to have a chance to meet you at ycon this year. ^_^

It'd be nice if there could be gatherings for fans by state. There might be more fans from your state than post here on the forums. I don't live in Utah but had a work assignment which kept me there (Ogden) for nearly a year (two weeks out of the month) and still have friends there. It'd be a surprise for me if you actually knew some of the people I know ha ha!
