
roommates needed(prefer females)

Two females seek two or three roommates. Have room reserved for four, but friends unable to make it.

Two rules no doing anything you're legally too young to do, or that will get us kicked out of the hotel.

I am a 20-year-old gay male, and I'm trying to find a hotel room. Would you be interested in having me? I'm a bit shy, and certainly have no interest in breaking either of those two rules. Before I agree to anything though, I would like to have an idea of how much the weekend will cost.

Oh, and just a note, I'm looking for a room for Friday and Saturday night only, I'll be leaving back home after the con ends on Sunday.

room cost

My sister and I are checking in on the night of the 25th and out on the morning of the 29th.

The total cost of the room is $484.00, w/ $121per night.

Split evenly between 3 people thats $41 per night. 4 people $31. The hotel says 4 people in the room but we can probably fit 5. Since my sister and I prefer the floor.

One thing I want to make sure of, how would you charge me for the room? Would you charge me the cost of the room for all four days, or just the cost of the room for the two days I would be using it?

charge

Why would we charge you for when you're not there?

If you spend two days you pay for two days.

Sorry to inform you, but circumstances have come up that prevent me from taking this offer. Thank you for your quick responses, they were quite helpful ^^.

Hihi! Are you still looking for roomies?

19 years old female, first time to Y-con (heard too many tales to go without), non-smoker, and mild cosplayer (might end up being too lazy to cosplay).

I've been to other conventions, and understand entering late late in the night requires ninja skillzzz.

Yes, and I bathe and enjoy making friends with my roomies. I hope you like to dance! because I kinda suck at it and do it anyways
