Non Anime...?

I am just wondering what people think of Non-Anime cosplay, like for instance something American or Video-Game related? I'm planning a non-anime cosplay this year and I'm just wondering what peoples thoughts are.

Thank you much :3

Well, there's always plenty of Harry Potter cosplay, and I doubt that's solely because of the games :P I don't think anyone'd begrudge you it, and frankly if they do they need a slap XP As long as you're having fun and not offending anyone else, right? :)

I know for sure that videogame cosplays are always accepted. I mean, how many times have I seen Link at these things?
lol

I'm going as White Spy of Spy vs Spy.
Mad Magazine comic, for those who aren't familiar.
I blame Y!gallery for this little adventure in cosplay. Hard not to get inspired.

Well considering I've swapped plans -yet- again, my current costume is KAITO (the Vocaloid) which is sort of non-anime.

Hell, one year there was a House yaoi thread here (mostly cause I wanted to cosplay wilson or house) and I would do it too if me and my partner weren't short on cosplay funds right now....I don't know, it never crossed my mind weather people would actually care what I wore, just as long as I wear clothes....

Well I was trying to make my first costume which was going to be either Ena, Lethe, or Micaiah from Fire Emblem and Cassandra, Sophitia, Tailm, or Xianghua from Soul Calibur but I was having a real tough time trying to get started (part of it was I didn't know where to start :blush: ) so I gave up on CosPlaying this year but I was looking for clothing on eBay and found a lolita costume maker in Canada that makes and ships custom costumes for $40 I was so happy!
