Thank you kindly... I always get nervous, as my auction skits are always somewhat offbeat, even for our crowd. It really makes me happy to hear that people appreciate and remember them. :D

Actually I loved it too and I had to listen to the song as soon as I got home.

Hah, seems like a third of the people in that room made a mental note to look up the song later =p Myself included. Check out Coin Operated Boy and Shores of California too.

I got the song stuck in my head and when the skit was going I was trying to remember the words. Gothkitty you did a super job as did your friend. Three cheers to you both.

Lol... Hmmmm...

Well I had one outfit that I used last year but didn't get to remove, so unless I use that one at Fanime, I'll be using it for Yaoi-con. My other current pick is a nice, black PVC catsuit that I have... which is just spiffy. ;3

Other than that, no plans so far. I'll probably run around for a few hours in the Raccoon Police uniform again. :D
