Does anyone know how to get .avi's to play in Winamp? I want to DL a couple, but can't watch them without fixing this problem.

Actually, the title of the AMV in Best Technical was supposed to be "I am Ghost"

Mysteriousryder, I just want to say that I think you're awesome and I wish I had the visual skill you do. I can't stop watching that AMV and I want the song just as an mp3 so damn bad....

Whoops, sorry about that; there were some errors on the ballot here and there since I had to rush it together after messing with tech issues for a couple of days.

Really sorry about that.

Looking forwards to your entries next year and another great contest.

Think i'll bring back the dresses though, audience reaction is a bit more enthused at the beginning under those circumstances and an excited audience is always good.

Definitely. After all, I've seen many frilly outfits lately.

But I remember a year you wore what appeared to be leather 8)

Wait, leather?

Last year was the fairy princess outfit, the year before was the maid dress. Before that I believe it was a mesh top and the year before was an uke shirt (been getting more flamboyant each year from the looks of things).

When did I wear leather save for my boots? :shock:

I think I was thinking of the mesh top, but you wore some huge mask (did it have horns?). Dang, if you haven't worn it before, then maybe next year ... :twisted:

I tried uploading to AMV.org but son realized... they don't allow my band's song! So here is a youtube link for anyone that cares, if this is acceptable.

Favorited it! And why don't they allow that song on amv.org?

They were hassled by the record company representing Evanescence, Creed and Seether not to post any videos containing these group's songs. Even AMV.org don't know why they were banned but had to agree or suffer dire consequences.

Thanks for the props!
