
comiket or bust?

Posted by akiahara - 2008/04/23 21:34

i wasn't sure where to put this since it's not a major event or anything... but did anyone see the comiket or bust section?

i was curious if anyone else had a doujinshi to submit?

i'm a little confused on how it works... if it's just a sample of your manga, or it's taken to comiket to be sold or what the details are, because they're not posted, and i didn't get a response when i sent an email.

shrug

=====

Re:comiket or bust?

Posted by Titania - 2008/04/29 08:32

The details are pretty much exactly as they're outlined on the page: your doujinshi will be taken to Comiket and put on display in the International Corner at Comiket, which is an area they set aside to showcase work that's being done in other countries. No sales are done from those tables.

So if you have a doujinshi that you've drawn and you'd like visitors to Comiket to see and flip through, then go ahead and send one in.

=====