
What makes a good BISHIE???

Posted by Cherry - 2008/06/17 13:39

Hello everyone,

This would be my first yaoi con and I would like to have your opinion(s) on what makes a BISHIE...uhh..."pants wetting hot" ;)

I've been reading some of the other threads and topics to see what I could find. Alas to my long search I did not find much. :(So, I decided to put up this thread and get it straight from the otaku's mouth.

Some like the big manly men B) , others like the fem boy :kiss: , some like the dark brooling :angry: , and the list goes on and on.

Let me hear your thoughts on what kind of dream bishie you would like to see, have, bid on, take pictures of, or whatever else your dirty little imaginations can come up with. ;)

Define 'pants wetting.' ;)

I think one thing that I like seeing is someone who's in shape and who is good to hang out with. The first is best on my eyes and lets me know that said bishie takes pride in his appearance and wouldn't let himself be seen in a bad light. Secondly, nothing's worse than being obligated to hang out with a jerk for four hours on either end. What I consider being a jerk? Someone who has sour grapes because they weren't bought by the 'right' person or, while I would concede that a bishie is not required to always agree to what their buyer asks them to do, someone who weasels out of the commitment because they didn't like the chosen activity.

Your mileage may vary, of course.

Hmmm, while looks may be a plus for some, I'd prefer someone who looks a little ... experienced. I prefer slightly older to the younger stud. My bishie should treat others with respect, but be able to hold his own against a bully. Smart, or at least able to converse on a variety of subjects. Can wear anything and look comfortable and confident in jeans/t-shirt as well as a suit and tie. i will say that I prefer longer, dark hair. ;)

Lol... as far as I know... and I think I'm a pretty good judge... none of our bishies are outright egotists, you'll be glad to hear. Most of us are just especially silly/funloving people who aren't above a little exhibitionism for the sake of a good time. :D

I think a bishi should be SMART I mean, mensa level smart or near enough. Perferably someone who can do math because...then I can kidnap them and force them to do my math home work JK...but really, I find brains are much better than brawn because the bishi can then target who they want and trick that person into doing what ever they want, good or evil,...But that's just my, my first bishi love was Raistlin majere who was amazingly bright....and REALLY evil (I LOVE DRAGONLANCE!)

Fun to be around is the big thing. I like it when they are pretty and really into what they are doing. ^_^

My ideal bishie wouldn't have to be dark and brooding, a fem boy, or a big manly men. To me, he must be serious and very confident with himself (not in a conceited way) but is totally comfortable with himself; a little bit of coyness wouldn't hurt. He can be a little dominating, but still takes in regard of the other's (bishie, fan, whatever) feelings and authority. He must be in tune with the reactions he gets from his fans (ladies and gents) and doesn't completely give them what they want smirk but makes them work to get what they want. He must be able to seduce the senses with subtlety and not be over exaggerated. He must show a little bit of possessiveness. What I mean is that if you give focus on person, show the rest of fans watching that if they could be that person that is how you would treat them.

There are other qualities that make up a good bishie. But this is my personal dream bishie, since you asked. They were made up from my men of Karen Marie Moning.

I hope this helps!

Heylo cherry, thanks for the random IM and kind words =3

The best quality of a bishounen IMO is being one of the people, not above the people. If you're sociable, have a good time and a good sense of humor with a fast wit to boot, they'll have fun with you if you have fun at the con with them. (example, the bottle trick joke during the host club last year. I should have seen that coming a mile away >////>)

So, be friendly, loveable, good looking (from your pic, you got that covered.) and approachable. Oh, and don't be camera shy. You'll be a star, I can see it already.

I think I have a pretty good idea now of what people want, expect, and what is really going to happen.

The way I see it, everyone has their own type of bishi they want to go after. Some want the man whores who will go out and do anything to have a little fun and will give the people everything they want. Then there are those who like the chase their bishi. They want a little challenge and are not satisfied with getting a piece of what everyone else is getting as well. And there is everything in between.

I guess the best part of Yaoi con is that we have bishi to satisfy all types. It's not just having one super all encompassing bishi but the variety to go out and see/experience all kinds of bishi to see which one suits you best. And the best part is all the free eye candy that comes with the experience.

I am sad to learn that many of the bishi I thought were going to be there will not be here this year. I am afraid that the bishi pool will be low this year. But as others have said. It is the quality of the bishi, not the quantity.

Thanks for all of your insights.

Pin-pon! You got it! ^_^

I think the total number of bishies this year will be lower than last year, but I wouldn't describe it as low compared to the usual number I'm used to - last year was a bit special, to say the least! As for quality... well, that'd be telling, wouldn't it? ;)

Well...having a bishi that can answer this question, "Nani wa watashi no pantsu no naka ni ari/ i/ masu ka." would be good, especially if they can answer 'Saru wa watashi no pantsu no naka ni imasu...

"What's inside my panties?" Or rather "What's wear my panties?" or literally "What is of inside my panties?"

The second is not a question but an answer. So you cant answer an answer.

I think it says, "Its a monkey in my panties..." or "A monkey is wearing my panties..."

Am I close or just plain way off?

Sounds pretty close to me. Although, why is a monkey wearing your panties? :D

I don't know how many of the bishies ended up actually involved in bishie events (since it's impossible to be involved in every single one!), but certainly the queue of prospective bishies was definitely up on previous years. I don't actually know how many bishies have applied this year either, so I can't comment with too much certainty on that front - but the private bishie forum certainly has some new faces; it just depends how many of the veterans and last year's new guys show up!
