
Junjou Romantica

Posted by Spygirl690 - 2008/04/29 09:12

The first two episodes are available for download from the beautiful, wonderful, saint-like (really I can't praise her enough) Aarinfantasy.

This series seems pretty cute so far. According to Anime News Network there will be 24 episodes. It is def spicy in some parts and really romantic in others. I'm interested to see where the series goes. (I haven't read the manga)

-- anyone else seen this?

The two episodes I've seen are pretty good, except when it comes to the love scene, they don't show it compared to the manga. You can here it, but instead of being able to see it. Other than that, its pretty good ^^

Ack! aw man. On episode 11 Aarin wrote that there will only be 12 episodes out for now. I hope they are just taking a break! I'm so in love with this series. Just when they started the Kakashi storyline too! Ok, ok I know it's Kazuhiko Inoue but I can't hear his voice without thinking of Kakashi and thinking of Kakashi in any sort of yaoi setting.....well honestly thinking about him at all... makes me weak in the knees. It is so amazing that he's done a few yaoi storylines. Ok, off topic. Bad kitty. Bad.

I didn't price check with other sites or anything, so I don't know how it compares, but play-asia.com has it at $45.90 per DVD, with the limited editions at $65.90.

Disc 1:

Oi!!!! Oi!!!

Aarin has the first episode of season two up and they are working on the the second episode! I haven't had the chance to see it yet but judging from the responses from it it looks real good.

Also Aarin has all of the spicy fan subbed DVD version of season one up.:laugh: I saw the first episode and was very pleased! Just don't forget to buy something from the series or they won't have enough monies to continue ^_^
